NEWS OF THE DAY.

—Gov. Ingersoll was inaugurated yesterday at Hartford, Conn., and the Legislature convened.

—Lawrence's planing mill in New York was destroyed by fire last night. Loss $60,000. Insurance $33,000.

—J. Montgomery Forster, of Harrisburg, has been confirmed as Insurance Commissioner for the ensuing year.

—Everything was quiet in the Massillon and other mining districts of Ohio where the men are out on strikes yesterday.

—With a population of nearly 3,500,000, which is rapidly increasing, the annual mortality in the city of London has declined nearly one in 1,000 in the last thirty years.

—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Lake Shore road at Cleveland, yesterday, the old Board, headed by Com. Vanderbilt, was re-elected. Thirty million dollars worth of stock was voted.

—The Evening Post says a Receiver has been appointed for the Loaners Bank, New York, in the suit of Henry Prentice on a certificate of deposit for $12,000. The total liabilities of the bank are $300,000. The bank is expected to resume.

—Mr. Hopkins has received a dispatch from General Hawley to the effect that Colonel Scott, of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, will make full provision for the conveyance of the members who may desire to visit the Centennial on the occasion of the opening.

—The Christian at Work wants to know whether any of its readers would have been willing to acquire Mr. Stewart's great wealth and meet its responsibilities as he met them. The opinion is expressed by the New York Sun that people could be found who would take the risk.

—The Democratic Greenback Convention in New York yesterday denounced Tilden, and the Utica Convention urged the nomination of a Western man for President, and requested the Democrats in the House not to allow Congress to adjourn until the Resumption act was repealed.

—Anthony Gehring, a German newspaper carrier, residing in Cincinnati, yesterday shot his wife and then cut his own throat. Both parties died instantly. They had only been married about eight months. Gehring was of most violent disposition, was very jealous, but without cause, of his wife.

—It is diamond cut diamond. In view of the large supply of corn in New York awaiting transportation to Europe, the steamship companies have doubled their charges for freight. They know that the New York Central road has agreed with the owners of this grain to transport it to Liverpool, and they have the road in their power.

—Isaac Lothian Bell, M. P. late President of the Iron and Steel Institute of Great Britain, and the richest and most scientific ironmaster in Europe, has been designated by the Duke of Richmond to visit Philadelphia for the purpose of inspecting our great mineral resources and productions during the International Exhibition.

—Sailors' superstition was well illustrated, last Friday, in Chicago. The Straits of Mackinaw opened on Thursday by the breaking of the ice, and on Friday the news reached Chicago, but not a vessel would leave port until Saturday. No true sailor could ever be persuaded to tempt Providence by starting anywhere on "Hangman's Day."

—The question of the Presidential election is beginning to exercise members personally, and especially those who were elected from close districts upon the theory and in the belief that a change of policy would be adopted that would bring financial relief. If a candidate is elected upon a directly opposite line it is thought that these districts may be lost.

—Peter E. Abel, well known as a theatrical manager in Philadelphia, disappeared yesterday, and as his friends have not since been able to find him it is thought he has committed suicide. His hat and coat were found on the bridge, together with a note stating that as he could not pay his debts he was of no more use in the world. He was fifty years of age, and leaves a wife and adult son.

—An impression prevails that only invited guests will be admitted to the Centennial grounds on the opening day, May 10th. General Hawley corrects this impression in a special announcement that the public will be admitted at nine o'clock A. M. on that day, but the main hall Art Gallery and Machinery Hall will not be thrown open to the public until after the inauguration ceremonies.

—Dr. J. B. Pendery, of Omaha, returned yesterday from the Black Hills, where he has been for the past three months. He reports the road from Custer City to Fort Laramie strewn with wagons—the owners having either fled or been killed or captured by Indians. He says it is dangerous for small parties to undertake the trip. At Tied Canon, where H. E. Brown was recently killed, a few Indians can hold the ground against great odds, as they secrete themselves up in the rocks and shoot down on a dead rest.

—W. E. Brown, at San Francisco, yesterday, testified that he was Secretary of the Contract and Finance Company for a number of years, which consisted of Leland and Standford C. P. Huntington, Mark Hopkins, Charles Crocker and E. B. Crocker, and that it was organized for the purpose of obtaining the contract for the Central Pacific to build the road; that the directors of Central paid over to the Finance Company stock of the Railroad company to the amount of about $54,000,000 subsequently, dividing it among the members of the Contract and Finance Company.

—At the Secretary's desk in the Treasury building may be seen, almost daily, a tall, thick-set man of thirty-eight or thereabout, with a massive head, a full face, a scanty head of dark brown hair, a close-cut beard, clear eyes and a determined looking mouth. It is the figure of a good-looking, but not handsome man, whom one's head would turn toward involuntarily to look at a second time. His inches will reach a good six feet, and yet he is so thick-set that he does not look above the average height. The striking points are the massive head, the clear eyes and the firm-set mouth. It is Bristow, the reform Secretary of the Treasury.

—Members of Congress and other Government officials invited to participate in the opening ceremonies at the Centennial Exposition, are making anxious inquiries touching accommodations to be had at Philadelphia. The invitation of the Centennial authorities to Congress is a very indefinite and informal affair, unaccompanied with any information as to where or how guest are to be lodged. It is expected that all who accept the invitation to attend the opening ceremonies will defray their own expenses, but it is thought that the Centennial people should make such arrangements as will assure all proper and comfortable accommodations.

—The Parisian workmen who are coming over to our Centennial will certainly find many things in American work to criticise, but not a few, also, to study with advantage. What may be called utilitarian mechanism and invention are highly developed in this country, and many a "handy contrivance" which is too common to cause remark with us, would be a downright novelty in France. This is peculiarly true of our tools and machinery, and doubtless the French workmen will learn much to apply practically on their return. Perhaps also, they may give our own workmen a hint of the origin of the grace and elegance of much of the French work.

Statements by Schenck and Lyon.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—At the meeting of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, in the matter of Gen. Schenck, his counsel said if the committee should be of the opinion that certain correspondence of Park, Schenck and Fisher was to be considered, he would waive all objection and leave the committee perfectly free to act. It was decided by the committee that the papers which have already found their way into print should not be received in evidence, but if General Schenck desired to make a statement he was at liberty to do so. General Schenck said that while it was true that he gave Fisher such information as he possessed, it was utterly untrue that he had any stock operations with him. As to Duncan, he did not know him. General Schenck said he never telegraphed to Cheesebrough to sell 2,000 shares of Emma Mine stock, and such shares were never sold. The use of Schenck's name by Fisher was without authority.

The question as to the interlineation of two words in Schenck's letter of resignation having been again introduced, Mr. Hewitt said he has been represented in the Associated Press report as saying yesterday the interlineations were in Park's handwriting, whereas he said they were in Schenck's writing.

Lyon made a statement in support of portions of his former testimony. He said he saw the original letter of resignation of Schenck as director of the Emma Mine Company. At least it so purported to be. There was no reference in it to the mine or shares, but it stated that he resigned only because he did not want to give his political enemies an opportunity to criticize his conduct. Park said to witness: "I don't like this letter, and I am going to have a better one from Schenck." The impression of witness was that Park wrote the final letter of resignation, and Schenck copied it from Park's manuscript. There was nothing about which he was more positive than these two letters of resignation.

H. A. Johnson gave testimony and corroborated what Lyon said concerning the two letters of resignation.

FORTY-FOURTH CONGRESS.

FIRST SESSION.

Personal Explanation by Senator Morton.

A Political Slander Refuted.

The War Record of Indiana Democrats.

A BAD SHOWING FOR THE UNTERRIFIED.

WASHINGTON, May 3, 1876.

SENATE.

River Light Houses.

Mr. MORRILL (Me.) called up the House bill authorizing the transfer of $6,000 to pay light house keepers and maintain the light house service on the Mississippi, Ohio and Missouri rivers. Passed.

Personal Explanation by Senator Morton.

Mr. MORTON arose to a personal explanation. He sent to the Clerk's desk and had read a Washington dispatch to the New York World in regard to $250,000 received by him from the General Government while he was Governor of Indiana out of an appropriation of $250,000 to pay the expenses of transporting and delivery of arms, &c., to loyal citizens in the States in rebellion. He said:

Mr. President: The President of the United States, in the spring of 1863, advanced to me $250,000 to enable me to carry forward military operations in the State of Indiana. Of this sum I expended $133,302 in the service of the State, and with which I charged the State in my settlement with it, and the remaining $116,698 were not expended. This amount I returned to the Treasury of the United States, as is shown by the following voucher and receipt:

"TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
"April 11, 1865.

"SIR: Yours of the 6th inst., enclosing certificate of deposit issued by the First National Bank of Indianapolis, Indiana, in your favor, No. 360, date of the 6th inst., for $116,698 on account of money due and refunded to the United States, has been received.

"I am, very respectfully,
"GEO. HARRINGTON,
"Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.
"HON. O. P. MORTON, Indianapolis, Ind."

The $133,302 which I had expended on behalf of the State were paid back to the Government by giving the Government credit for that amount upon advances which had been made by the State in the conduct of the war, which advances were duly audited by the Treasury Department, and allowed as just and valid claims against the Government in favor of the State. This settlement and final adjustment of the whole sum of $250,000 are shown by the following vouchers and quietus from the office of the Second Auditor of the Treasury:

"TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
"Second Auditor's Office, Nov. 8, 1865.

"SIR:—The charge of $250,000 on the books of this office on account of supplying arms to loyal citizens in the revolted States has this day been closed on the books of this office, to wit: By the deposit by you of $116,698 and a transfer of $133,302 of funds from the books of the Third Auditor's Office to your credit on the books of this office.

"Very respectfully,
"Your obedient servant,
"JOHN. M. SIMS, Second Auditor.
"O. P. MORTON, Governor."

From these vouchers it will appear that the whole sum of $250,000 was accounted for and repaid to the Government. It will be proper in this connection to state the circumstances under which the $250,000 were advanced to me by the President and the use made of it, to show that it was not misapplied.

Democratic Rule in Indiana.

At the October election in 1862 in Indiana the Democrats carried the State by a majority of over 100,0000, electing a large majority in each branch of the Legislature and their candidates for State officers. The Democrats had the Legislature, all State officers and the Judges of the Supreme Court, and possessed the whole power in the State Government except the executive. When the Legislature assembled in the first week in January, 1863, its conduct was characterized by the most intense hostility to the administration and to the prosecution of the war. I sent my message to the two Houses on the second day of the session. The Senate received, read and printed it in the usual way. The House refused to receive it, and directed the Clerk to return it to me, and on the next day adopted a resolution approving the message of Governor Seymour of New York. The revolutionary policy thus inaugurated was pushed with increased violence and open disregard of constitutional obligations. The time was chiefly consumed by the introduction of disloyal resolutions, the utterances of factious and treasonable sentiments intended to excite the people against the Government and destroy its power to suppress the rebellion. On the 17th of February a bill was introduced into the House, which was intended to strip me as Governor of all military power in the State. It provided that all arms should be placed in the custody of the Auditor, Treasurer, Secretary and Attorney General of the State, to be kept, issued or disposed of only by them. It deprived the Governor of all power to call out the militia for any purpose whatever. It provided that all officers of militia should be appointed and commissioned by these four State officers, and not by the Governor, as required by the Constitution of the State. It provided for the repeal of the existing militia law, the dissolution of all brigades, regiments and companies formed under that law, the surrender of their arms into the hands of agents to be appointed by the four State officers, and rendered null and void all outstanding commissions. In short, this bill transferred to the four State officers the military power which was vested in the Governor by the Constitution, was revolutionary and unconstitutional in every feature, and intended for disloyal purposes. The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read the third time by a strict party vote. The Legislative history of this bill could not be better given than in the language employed by the Union members of the Legislature in their address to the people of the State, as follows:

The Democratic Military Bill.

"The military bill had come from a midnight caucus to the House, had been printed and forced to its engrossment without the change of a word or letter, all amendments and substitutes had been voted down, all references to committees had been refused, although every other bill of a general character that had gone to a second reading had been referred to some committee—the previous question had been sustained, the gag applied, and all debate cut off, and the bill engrossed. Nothing was left for us but to sit by and see this infamous measure passed through, the revolution consummated, and civil war begun, or quietly retire and leave the House without a quorum. There was no other peaceful and constitutional remedy. If it had been left to the Courts to annul it before the question could have been determined the law would have done its work. The military power once in the hands of the conspirators, it would be a matter of no importance what the courts might decide, and if the question took the course of others before the Supreme Court it might be months or years before a decision was made. The path of duty was the path of safety, and we had no doubt, no hesitation as to the course we should pursue. We were willing and anxious, and repeatedly proposed to the majority to return and pass appropriation bills with all other and legitimate and lawful legislation, but they replied to us contemtuously that they intended to pass every one of the extra measures before they took up appropriation bills."

The military bill violated absolutely no less than seven plain and vital provisions of the State Constitution, and subverted entirely the scheme of government intended by the framers of that instrument. Its passage would have been an act of revolution, inevitably attended by civil war, and a collision with the Government of the United States. It had become manifest that the Democratic members of the Legislature were determined to pass the bill at all hazards, which would unquestionably have resulted in civil war. I could not and would not surrender my powers as Governor under the Constitution, nor could the Government of the United States afford to have me do so, for the purpose of the proceeding was to neutralize the position of Indiana in the war and take her out of the line of loyal States northwest of the Ohio river. The very tendency of the bill and avowed purpose to pass it caused the most intense ferment, and at once threatened the peace and safety of the State. I could veto the bill, but a simple majority could pass it over the veto, so that would amount to nothing. The Republicans had barely enough members in the House of Representatives to break the quorum and break up the Legislature. Consultations were held with the Republican members of the Legislature and leading Republican citizens from different parts of the State, who were summoned for that purpose, and it was the deliberate judgment of all, in which mine fully concurred, that the passage of the bill would involve the State in civil war. The Republican members of the House, therefore, withdrew from the body to prevent the final passage of the bill. All appropriation bills to carry on the State Government, except one to pay the per diem and mileage of members, had been kept behind this military bill, so that when the Legislature adjourned there were no appropriations made for any civil or military purposes. There was but it was locked against me. I made an appeal to the people of the State, setting forth the situation, and asking them to furnish me with money to carry on the State Government, to support the militia and organize troops for the United States. The County Commissioners in the county of Marion, in which the capital is located, came forward and advanced me $20,000 out of the County Treasury. This example was followed by many other counties in the State, by several banks, railroad companies, and by individuals, until a large sum of money had been raised. Under the constitution the Legislature met but once in two years, unless convened in extra session by the Governor, and the next session, of course, would not begin until January, 1865. After obtaining all the money I could from counties and other sources, I made a calculation and found that I would lack about $250,000 to carry me through to January, 1865, and to make my position secure I came to Washington to see if I could not obtain that amount from the Government of the United States. After a careful review of the situation by the President, Mr. Lincoln, and the Secretary of War, Mr. Stanton, the President advanced me the sum of $250,000. They both agreed that Indiana was threatened with rebellion, and that the condition of the State came directly within the letter and spirit of the act of Congress approved July 31, 1861. Mr. Stanton declared to the President with great emphasis that if Indiana lost her position as a loyal State the final success of the Government in suppressing the rebellion would be endangered, and that the Governor must be sustained at at whatever cost or hazard. The is shown by the following extract from my annual message to the Legislature of Indiana in January, 1865: "Upon the adjournment of the Legislature I found myself unprovided, with the exception of a small balance of the military contingent fund, with money or appropriation for military purposes. No regiments could be raised under the requisitions of the Governor, nor could recruiting be carried forward without the use of large sums of money. The Legion (militia) had received no pay for their services from the beginning of the war, and organization could not be successfully continued unless payment was made and the men reimbursed for their actual expenditures, for which the appropriation for the Legion fund made in 1861 was inadequate. The southern border was still disturbed by threats and danger of invasion, and such steps were to be taken, if possible, as would guarantee peace and security to our people. In this dilemma I determined to apply to the President for an advance under an appropriation made by Congress on the 31st of July, 1861, which act is in these words:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States in Congress assembled, That the sum of $2,000,000 be and the same is hereby appropriated to be expended under the direction of the President of the United States in supplying and defraying the expenses of transporting and delivering such arms and munitions of war as in his judgment may be expedient and proper to place in the hands of any of the loyal citizens residing in any of the States of which the inhabitants are in rebellion against the Government, or in which rebellion is or may be threatened, and likewise for defraying such expenses as may be properly incurred in organizing and sustaining, while so organized, any of the citizens in companies, battalions, regiments or otherwise, for their own protection against domestic violence, invasion or rebellion."

"After full consideration of the condition of affairs in Indiana, the President advanced to me, as a disbursing officer, out of said appropriation the sum of $250,000. It will be proven that this money was not paid to me as a loan to the State or an advance to the State upon debts due her from the General Government, and creates no debt against the State, but that in theory it is an expenditure made by the President through me as his disbursing agent. It has, however, been disbursed exclusively in the name of and for the benefit of the State in payment of necessary military expenses for which the State should have made ample appropriations. I have advanced to the Paymaster of State forces at different times the sum of $171,661, of which the greater portion, however, has been reimbursed to me by the General Government upon my filing in the proper department the receipted pay rolls of the Indiana Legion for services rendered in the war. For a detailed account of the expenditures of the military fund the Legislature is referred to the financial report of Hon. W. H. H. Terrell, Financial Secretary, which is herewith submitted, and to vouchers on file in this department. All of these expenditures were laid before the auditing committee appointed by the late Legislature for examination, and received their approval, as will be shown by their report. I had on hand on the 1st of May, 1865, of the military fund the sum of $115,487, and the question is now presented as to the proper method of settlement with the Government for the fund. One of two ways may be adopted: First, by returning to the Government the balance of the fund unexpended, and by settling with it for the amount expended upon vouchers of expenditures after the same shall have been approved by the Legislature, and this would be in accordance with the theory upon which the money was originally advanced by the President. Second, by paying into the State Treasury the unexpended balance of the fund, and treating the whole as an advance to the State, to be accounted for by her in her general settlement with the Government for advances made. This latter plan is, in my judgment, made consonant with justice and the honor of the State, the money having been expended for purposes for which the State was honorably and patriotically bound to make provision. The total amount of cash received by me is $1,026,321. I have disbursed for civil purposes on vouchers $199,644, for military purposes on vouchers $702,420, total $902,065, leaving a balance in my hands of $124,256. Of this balance $8,768 belongs to funds received on account of civil expenses, and $115,487 on account of funds received for military expenses."

"In conclusion on this subject, I respectfully request that a joint committee of the two Houses be speedily appointed to investigate the civil and military expenditures I have made since the adjournment of the last Legislature, and to examine the vouchers for the same on file in the Treasury Department, and that the Legislature will make prompt provision for the payment of the money I have borrowed for public purposes. It was advanced from patriotic motives, with a full reliance upon the good faith of the State for its reimbursement, and without it the machinery of the State Government could not have been kept in motion."

Legislative Vindication.

A joint committee of the two Houses, embracing some of the ablest Democratic members, was appointed, as requested in my message, who patiently investigated all my accounts, including the expenditure of the $133,302 which I had obtained from the President, and unanimously reported them correct, taking no exception even to the amount of one cent. The unexpended portion of the $250,000 which I had obtained from the President, and which I described in my message as a military fund, but which was erroneously stated in the message as $115,000, instead of $116,000, I did not pay into the State Treasury, as suggested in the message, but refunded directly to the General Government, as before shown, and the $133,302 which I had expended for the State were settled with the Government by giving credit to the Government for that amount of the indebtedness of the Government to the State, as before shown. After a full examination of my accounts, the Legislature made an appropriation to pay my borrowed money and debts I had contracted; also a sum of about $600,000, the exact amount, however, I am not able to state from memory, which I had procured from Winslow, Lanier & Co., of New York, to advance in payment of interest upon bonds of the State during the years 1863 and 1864, the payment of which interest had been withheld by the Auditor and Treasurer of State. During these two years all payments for the civil and military expenses of the State, including benevolent institutes, and excepting only the salaries of public officers, were paid upon my own check through a financial bureau established in my office, the State Auditor and State Treasurer declining all compensation. My course was by my re-election as Governor in October, 1864, by a majority of more than 200,000, and by the election of a Republican Legislature and Republican State officers. The intermediate history between the events I have described in the spring of 1863 and the meeting of the Legislature in January, 1865, I will refer to but briefly, although it was extraordinary in its character, and unlike that of any other State. The State was honeycombed with secret societies, formerly known as the Knights of the Golden Circle, but at that time as Sons of Liberty. They claimed in 1864 to have forty thousand members in the State, were lawless, defiant, plotting treason against the United States and the overthrow of the State Government. In some counties their proportions were so formidable as to require the militia to be kept on a war footing, and throughout 1863 and until the final explosion of the organization in August, 1874, kept the whole State in an uproar and alarm. So bold were their demonstrations through the summer of 1863 that General John Morgan, of Kentucky, was induced to invade the State with his forces, in the belief that there would be a general uprising in his support.

Plans of Rebel Sympathizers.

In 1864 so numerous were the treasonable organizations and so confident were they of their strength that they returned for a general uprising in the city of Indianapolis on the 18th of August, to be under cover of a mass meeting of the Democratic party, to be attended by members of these organizations from all parts of the State. The plan, as shown by subsequent confessions of some of the leading conspirators, was on that day to release about seven thousand rebel prisoners confined in Camp Morton, seize the arsenal and arm these prisoners, overturn the State Government and take possession of the State. This plan could not be kept secret. It was developed some three weeks before the time fixed, and was abandoned by the leading conspirators, and orders issued countermanding the march of their forces upon Indianapolis. Subsequently the discovery and seizure of a large amount of arms and ammunition collected at Indianapolis for treasonable purposes, and the seizure of the records and rituals of the order of Sons of Liberty, giving moneys, giving the names of the principal conspirators, and the arrest of some eight of the ringleaders, had the effect to break up and destroy the power of the organization, and I regret to have to state that in the list of the principal members of this organization were found the names of three of the State officers into whose hands the Legislature of 1863 had attempted to place the whole military power of the State. Upon the trial of these ringleaders before a military tribunal, appointed by the President under an act of Congress, some of them turned State's evidence and disclosed the full character and extent of the conspiracy. Four of them were convicted and sentenced to death, one of whom made his escape, another was pardoned outright by President Johnson, and two others, Bowles and Milligan, had their punishment commuted by President Johnson to imprisonment for life, but afterwards released by a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, to the effect that a military commission had no jurisdiction to try them for the offence. There is a large volume of unpublished history, showing in detail the operations of these organizations, who were their aiders and abettors, and the connection they had with the politics of the day. It may be proper to state here that the Democratic Legislature of 1863, before its sudden adjournment, had appointed an auditing committee of its own members to audit and supervise all my accounts and expenditures for military purposes, which sat almost continuously until January, 1865, and that this committee did audit and approve every one of my expenditures, including that of the $113,302 of the fund obtained from the President. The same Legislature also appointed a committee to investigate all my expenditures and accounts from the beginning of the war up to January, 1865. The investigation was prosecuted with energy until late in the spring of 1864, and after the breaking up of the Legislature, failing to find anything wrong in my accounts to the amount of even a cent. The Democratic majority of the committee refused to make any report at all, but the Republican minority reported favorably my official conduct in every particular.

HOUSE.

Contested Election Decided.

A number of bills having been received and referred, the Illinois contested election case was taken up, the report of the committee being that Farwell, the sitting member, is not entitled to a seat, and that Lemoyne, the contestant, is. After argument a vote was taken on the resolution offered by a minority of the committee as a substitute for the resolution of the majority, and it was rejected—yeas 89, nays 129.

The question then recurred on the resolution of the majority, declaring that Farwell is not entitled to a seat, and that Lemoyne is. Adopted.

Postoffice Appropriation.

The House went into Committee of the Whole, Mr. Springer in the chair, on the Postoffice appropriation bill.

Mr. HOAR asked Mr. Holman (who has charge of the bill) whether the Committee on Appropriations had taken any action on the complaint of envelope makers as to the injury done to their business by the Government furnishing envelopes with the words "If not delivered to be returned, &c.," printed on them, at rates below those for which they can be made, and at a loss to the Government.

Mr. HOLMAN replied that the subject has been referred to a sub-committee, but that no change in existing regulations has been recommended.

Mr. HOAR further inquired whether that meant that no change was needed.

Mr. HOLMAN said that the committee had reached no conclusion on the subject, deeming it a matter that properly belonged to the Postoffice Committee.

Without action the committee rose and the House took a recess until 7:30, the evening session to be for general debate only on the Postoffice Appropriation bill.

NEWS FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

Winslow Still in Jail.

LONDON, May 3.—An application for the release of Winslow, made to-day, was resisted by the officers of the Crown and denied. Winslow will be held ten days longer, awaiting a reply from Washington to the latest English note. The application for his release will be renewed on the 13th.

More Trouble for Victoria.

LONDON, May 3.—The Press Association reports the following: We understand that in consequence of the dissatisfaction caused by the proclamation giving effect to the Royal Titles Act, and which does not limit the use of the title of Empress strictly to India, Sir Henry James will give notice in the House of Commons to-morrow that he will move a resolution equivalent to a vote of censure to the effect that the proclamation does not fulfil pledges given by the Government during the debate on the Royal Titles bill, and, therefore, the vote on the bill was taken under a misconception. The Marquis of Hatington will ask Disraeli for an opportunity to discuss the above motion.

Religious Liberty in Spain.

MADRID, May 3.—Congress to-day by a vote of 226 to 39 rejected the amendment proposed by Moderedoes against the religious toleration clause of the Constitution.

An Austrian Army Massing in Croatia.

THE M. E. CONFERENCE.

Third Day's Proceedings—Rules Adopted.

BALTIMORE, May 3.—The General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Bishop Simpson presiding, took up this morning the report of the Committee on Rules. The rules were adopted and several committees appointed.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The Grand Jury of the District of Columbia have agreed upon a presentment against W. W. Rea, of the Pension Agency, were examined by the Grand Jury to-day. The presentment of General Belknap is in the hands of the District Attorney, who will prepare a formal indictment.

Californians Determined to Stop the Immigration of John Chinaman.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—The South San Francisco Anti-Coolie Club and Young Men's Universal Reform Society, held a meeting last night, endorsing the destruction of the Chinese quarter in Antioch, and advocating a similar course in this city, unless the Federal Government should take immediate steps to abate the evil. The speeches were highly incendiary. Letters were read from societies in the interior seeking co-operation. The Sergeant-at-Arms of the Reform Society had received a telegram from New York, saying twenty-six hundred stand of arms could be delivered here at ten days' notice. While such talk and action is universally deprecated by the great mass of thinking people in the city, there can be no doubt that it meets the approval of a large and dangerous class in the community, and that in the event of no action being taken in the matter by the General Government, there is grave reason to fear serious disturbances at no distant day.

SECOND EDITION

THE STATE CAPITAL.

Legislative Proceedings.

Special to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

HARRISBURG, May 3, 1876.

SENATE.

The Boom Bill Passed.

The notable event of the morning has been the withdrawal of all opposition to the Boom bill and its signature by the Lieutenant Governor without a word of protest, and its deposit in the Executive office to await the action of the Governor.

A number of House bills were passed.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Senate met in afternoon session at 4 o'clock.

Bills on Second Reading.

A large number of House bills were considered and passed upon second reading, among them were the following:

A act to repeal an act to regulate the fees of assessors and assistant assessors in the county of Crawford.

A supplementary act regulating auctions in Fayette county.

An act vesting a title absolutely in Lizzie J. Lafferty and Matilda C. Varner.

An act repealing an act relating to the law library in Crawford county.

An act repealing the act to regulate the election of school directors in the sub-districts of the city of Pittsburgh, approved the 9th day of April, 1872.

A supplementary act for the regulation of the militia in Pennsylvania.

A supplementary act incorporating the city of Meadville.

Notaries Public.

The Governor nominated the following Notaries Public: Sylvester Marshall, of Pittsburgh, and Josiah Thompson, of Uniontown.

Adjourned.

HOUSE.

The Boom Investigation.

Mr. HAYS rose to a question of privilege and asked the House to take up the report of the Investigating Committee and dispose of it.

Mr. WOLFE moved an amendment to the report, so that it should not find Petroff and Lynott guilty of corrupt solicitation, or violation of the bribery section of the Constitution, making it conform to the action of the House on the cases of those members who were only expelled for conduct unbecoming members of the House, and consequently were not rendered ineligible to hold office in the future.

This was agreed to, the report adopted, and the committee discharged. This action was immediately followed by a resolution sending the report, together with the testimony, to the Attorney General, with an urgent request that he will use all the means which the Constitution and laws place in his power to punish all parties guilty of corrupt practices in connection with the Boom bill. This resolution was adopted by a vote of 154 to 7. The bill now goes to the Governor.

General Appropriation.

On motion of Mr. FAUNCE, the Appropriation Committee was instructed to report the General appropriation bill to the House to-day.

Judicial.

The act allowing the Judges of the Supreme Court to transfer counties from one judicial district to another passed finally.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House met in afternoon session at three o'clock.

Passed Finally.

The following bills were passed finally on third reading:

A joint resolution providing for the payment of the expenses of the inauguration of the Governor.

An act in regard to boundary monuments on the line between the States of Pennsylvania and New York.

A supplementary act relating to the settlement of public accounts, authorizing the transfer of accounts from one corporation to another in certain cases.

Poll Tax Defeated.

The act levying a poll tax in lieu of an occupation tax elicited considerable discussion, Messrs. GRAHAM (Allegheny) and MORGAN (Lawrence) speaking in favor of the bill.

To remedy some objections, Mr. GRAHAM moved to go into Committee of the Whole for a special amendment, but the motion was lost, and the bill failed for the want of the constitutional majority, by a vote of 85 yeas to 52 nays.

Passed on Second Reading.

A large number of Senate bills passed upon second reading, mostly of a local and general character. The following were the most important:

An act requiring statements by banks and banking companies made to the Auditor General to be published.

An act to enable hospitals, schools and charitable institutions generally to purchase, receive, take and hold ground rents for investments.

A further supplementary act defining and providing punishment of the offense of unlawfully obtaining the key or means used to open any bank vault, safe or other depository.

An act relating to the use of motive power on passenger railways.

The Appropriation Bill.

The Conference Committee finally agreed to-day and reported the General Appropriation bill, which was passed by a unanimous vote.

Adjourned.

Evening Session on Third Reading.

The House met in evening session at eight for the consideration of Senate bills on third reading. The following were passed:

Mr. LONG called up the act to enable citizens of the United States to hold and convey a title which had been held by aliens or corporations not authorized by law to hold the same.

An act authorizing Councils of cities of the Commonwealth of the third class to fill vacancies in the offices of City Controller and City Treasurer.

An act repealing the act prohibiting horse racing, so far as the same relates to agricultural societies or other incorporated associations.

An act authorizing the Commissioners of the several counties of the Commonwealth to fix the compensation for light, rent and fuel for election districts in their respective counties.

An act regulating the compensation of newspapers for publishing mercantile appraisers' lists.

An act to authorize the appointment of stenographers in the several courts of the Commonwealth, prescribing their duties and fixing their compensation.

An act repealing the act transferring Somerset county from the Western to the Middle district of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

The House adjourned at ten o'clock.

The Ventilation Bill.

The Conference Committee on the Ventilation bill cannot agree, so the bill will fall. Melchor Farner is here, giving general supervision to Allegheny county interests.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp 27¼f.

BONDS at Frankfort, new 5s, 101.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 112¾@112⅞.

THE new Richmond oil route has proven quite successful, so far as the first shipment is concerned. During this month, some 15,000 barrels are to shipped that way, a fact that shows that the opening of this route may aid the solution of the existing oil trouble.

SENATOR MORTON made a statement yesterday, covering all the proceedings connected with the expenditure of $250,000, which, it is charged, was not squarely done. The statement, in itself, was clear and consecutive, but an investigation will probably be had all the same.

THE Boom bill, over which so much trouble has been had, has at last been officially signed by the President of the Senate, and Speaker of the House. It thus goes to the Governor to run the gauntlet of the Executive veto. We imagine that as the House has apparently purged itself of the charge of bribery, the bill will be regarded as proper and right for the executive signature.

A NUMBER of affidavits have been published to the effect that Senator WOODS, of this city, did vote for the completion of the water works. This was not in itself discreditable to him, so much as his after opposition to the completion of the work, and his desire to have them decay as they are. He evidently acted, while a member of Council, on his conscience, and as Senator on his views of political expediency.

THE Philadelphia papers gravely declare that an Indiana postmaster has written a letter to Mayor STOKELY to inquire whether it is true that an angel rises occasionally out of the Schuylkill, and, flying to the top of the Centennial buildings, prophecies an uprising of the Germans in June, the destruction of the American people, and the seizure of their Government. Here is a chance for one or all of the Investigating Committees. That man, properly loaded, would make a capital witness.

HAVING expelled PETROFF and LYNOTT, the House yesterday so arranged the matter that they should not be further punished, and then accepted the report of the committee, and referred the outsiders over to the Attorney General in order that the tender mercies of the law may be tried on them. Probably the two expelled members suffer as severely as will those amenable to trial before the Courts, and thus we have, so far, the first case of punishment for bribery under the new Constitution.

IT seems impossible for the scandal hunters to let up on BLAINE. It is declared that his version of the Rock Island Railroad differs entirely from those of the Government directors, if we may trust the hearsay reports that are made concerning them. We do not, of course, know what misunderstanding there may be in the affair, but Mr. BLAINE has come out, openly and clearly, with his statements. If other responsible parties know them to be untrue, and are disposed to state their memory of any transaction, the manly way will be to do so openly and above board. But for others to spread statements for them is hardly fair or generous.

THE Methodist Episcopal General Conference proceeded promptly with its work on the opening day and since. The only amusing interlude, in the first day's proceedings, was furnished by Rev. W. H. PERRINE, of Wisconsin, who offered a resolution to divide the Conference into a lay and clerical body—the latter to be called a Senate. He supported his motion with quotations from MONTESQUIEU, and continued it till the expiration of his time. At the last General Conference, the same gentleman, on the opening day, if we mistake not, sought to prevent the admission of lay delegates, by urging the discoveries of AGASSIZ in science. He evidently does not believe in laymen.

WINSLOW, it appears, was not released yesterday, as he was expected to be. He was terribly depressed over his misfortune, as was his wife. It now begins to appear as if he were the victim of a dispute between the two governments. As we understand it, he is ready to return to this country, and is even anxious to do so. Why he should be held in prison while the two governments dispute over an issue that is entirely aside from him, is a mystery to us. He should be discharged, pending the determination of a question which is entirely between the English and American Governments. If the attempt is made to harmonize their views, months may elapse, during which it would be cruel to hold him in a disagreeable and even unhealthy prison.

THERE is a report that when the Centennial is over, the iron roofs, supports and the like in certain of the Centennial buildings, are to be transferred to this city, and used in the new depot to be erected by the Pennsylvania railroad. The Centennial has doubtless prevented that company from executing the work laid out to be done in this city as rapidly as possible, and some disappointment has been felt on this account. We judge, although we have no information on the subject, that so soon as the Centennial is over the work will be actively prosecuted, and will result in a very desirable improvement in that portion of the city where the buildings shall be located. It is probable, indeed, that the improvements that will be then made will mark a series of improvements through the entire city.

IS THERE not, between bills and resolutions, danger that the specie difficulty will be continued indefinitely. There can be no question that we have something approaching a panic, growing out of this specie scarcity. We need an enlargement of the volume of the specie current, and the simplest and most effective way of accomplishing this is the best. It matters not whether the specie thus set afloat be redeemed in currency or greenbacks, so that the method is properly legalized. It would, practically, be better were greenbacks, pending the scarcity of change, employed to call forth specie, redeeming them to circulation again by the use of currency, when we have sufficiency of change to admit of its being returned. At the present we need as much of all descriptions of change as can at all be commanded. We thus would employ greenbacks in the purchase of silver from the Treasury, in order that we may, as far as possible, retain fractional currency in circulation. But Congress needs to abandon its multiplicity of plans, if it would accomplish anything of practical good.

A CASE is in progress before the Courts of New York, involving the very important question whether American manufacturers can infringe the trade mark of foreign religious organizations. The monks of the Grand Chartreuse possess the secret for making a cordial, which has a sale so extensive that their profits in 1874 amounted to $400,000; but in this country it has been imitated, and their trade mark infringed. They brought suit in the New York Courts for an injunction, the defense employing able counsel, who argued that a religious corporation could not use a trade mark, and hence that no injunction should issue for its infringement. Judge SHIPMAN, however, remarked that he thought the complainant certainly owned the trade mark in the United States, and that it was clear that the trade mark had been infringed. He accordingly granted injunctions in all the cases, and intimated that he was the more willing to do so by reason of the obvious wrongfulness of the defendant's acts. The permanency of the injunction, and the penalty for infringement, are yet to be determined, but the case is interesting and important.

HORATIO SEYMOUR has attained a position before the country, and possesses the gifts of intellect that enable him to speak more independently than most men can on political subjects. He has been Governor of his native State, and was a Presidential candidate. He even, by an effort, might be the candidate of his party again. He has been a life-long and consistent Democrat, and cannot be accused of unfaithfulness to his party; yet he says of the political situation, in its relation to parties: "These corruptions are popular and common, and are not the vice of a party especially, but the party that was in power reflected them. The people corrupted the officials, who thereupon wronged and robbed the public." This explains how the party in power may be said to have lost the confidence of the country, but it does not explain how the party that has been constantly in opposition has failed to gain it, nor does Mr. SEYMOUR undertake to explain it. He boldly declares that the Democracy do not possess the confidence of the country, and even intimates that the conferment of power on the Democracy would not mend matters, unless a stronger moral sense touching political affairs were developed among the people,—all of which is sensible and true.

GENERAL PLEASANTON, of cavalry fame, during the war, proves to be something of a scientist. He has for a number of years, experimented with colored glass, as a means of promoting growth and health, particularly with grape vines and animals and persons. The results as given by several journals are so remarkable as to deserve the most careful attention. The insertion of violet glass into his grapery, one row of violet panes in eight, produced the most surprising results in accelerating the growth of the vines. New cuttings grew forty-five feet in length in five months, while similar cuttings under ordinary light only grew five feet. In 1862 from vines exposed to only the ordinary light he had 1,200 pounds of grapes, while from the same amount of vines under the violet light, he had about two tons. Results of a like surprising character were achieved by General PLEASANTON, in his experiments with colored light on animal life. Pigs thus treated fattened much faster than others. A sickly calf was made well. A mule was cured of rheumatism and deafness, and one of the General's neighbors tried the remedy on a sick wife, who was restored to health after other prescriptions had failed. These experiments corroborate in a measure those recently made by Dr. PONZA, an Italian physician, who found very beneficial results from the use of violet light with insane patients.

POOR POLICY.

Democratic journals support the proceedings of their committees in Congress, that so pertinaciously give currency to slanders only to have them refuted by the most convincing evidence. It is not strange that the New York World does this, because it proposed this scheme as a ready means of avoiding legitimate legislation, which might be of questionable popularity. But why Democratic papers that have denounced the World as the party mischief maker and marplot, should sustain so absurd a policy is more than we can imagine. It is really doing the Republican party a benefit, and only injures the Democracy and the country at large. The investigation and exploding of scandals benefit those who are thus relieved from floating imputations, and a large number of vicious rumors have thus been effectually silenced. BLAINE, BRISTOW, MORTON, the President, and such others holding recognized positions in the Republican party as have been assailed, stand all the better in the ordeal through which they have passed. BELKNAP bids fair to escape less scathed than the committee which investigated him. Whatever guilt attached to him was shared by CLYMER, when he bargained that if he resigned within a given time he should not be impeached. So the Republican party, through these investigations is in a better position to enter on the Presidential canvass than it otherwise could have been. Before, there were floating rumors of corruption, and attendant suspicions, the very things that helped the Democrats to victory last year. The only interest we need to have in these investigations is because of the disgrace they bring on the country. Admit that the House believed, at the outset, that there was truth in the many rumors in circulation, this pretence cannot now be set up. The worst of these reports, and those that seemed most plausible, have been exploded; yet the committees keep on their search, hoping against hope, that something will yet be discovered. It is this that disgusts sensible people. To investigate reports that seem plausible and well supported is excusable; but to originate rumors, and hunt people down, has in it the evidence of malice which is not at all acceptable to the American people.

Add to this that the policy of the Democracy is entirely transparent, and we have a reason why it cannot succeed. The Republicans particularly assailed are the prominent candidates for the Presidency, and the attempt is to break down, in advance, political rivals. No one now doubts that BLAINE, BRISTOW and MORTON are assailed because they are aspirants within the Republican party for the Presidency. The assault on MORTON puts this beyond peradventure. In his case they go back to the early years of the rebellion,—fifteen years ago,—and accuse him of mal-appropriation of money placed under his control for the equipment of troops to aid in the suppression of the rebellion. It is not pretended that he appropriated this money to his personal use, but that the whole proceeding was illegal, and that he was the responsible agent in giving effect to an illegal measure. Senator MORTON naturally welcomes this investigation, and professes to be able to show that every dollar put in his charge was expended in accordance with the law,—that is, in fitting out troops to help suppress the rebellion. This done, and the investigation will naturally turn on the policy pursued. This brings into the foreground at once his services in the war period, and makes the animus of the investigation to rest on the fact that he rendered important services during the rebellion. Thus the Democracy will have drifted once more to their normal position of persecuting, so far as they have power, those who served the country faithfully as against the rebellion. If this policy is agreeable to them, it certainly will not harm the Republican party. We have had enough of the rebellion spirit obtruded already, during this session of Congress, to afford a warning to the American people. HILL's passionate defense of Andersonville, and its atrocities; LAMAR's encomiums on the rebellion at large; the Virginia member's defense of rebel mail robberies, the attempt to pay millions of rebel cotton claims and war demands; the known fact that slaves will yet be called property and demand for their payment made; the attempt to destroy the consular and diplomatic service of the Government, because the patronage is in Republican hands; and finally the attempt to ruin those who rendered signally valuable service to the Government during the rebellion,—all these stand out as evidences that the real trouble is, that defeated rebellion is thirsting for vengeance, and will strain every nerve to reach it. If the Democratic party thinks itself strong enough to carry the rebellion, with its spirit of revenge, along the pathway of American history, it greatly overrates its strength, or we as greatly underrate it.

Let there be no misapprehension on this subject. If there are crimes provable against Republican officials, the Republican party is ready to co-operate in their exposure and punishment. It has proven this by its deeds. It opened the Credit Mobilier scandal when it was perfectly sure to be injured by it. BELKNAP could not have been touched, after MARSH ran away, had not Republican officials secured his return. The record of the party, particularly under the administration of President GRANT, has been that of the punishment of dishonest officials. It has not shunned duties of this kind. Nor do we believe that the investigations had, or likely to be held, will injure the Republican, or benefit the Democratic party. If we could see this to be likely we would be calm, knowing that there was a reason for the strange performances at Washington. We expect to beat the Democracy in the Presidential election, in any event. The enthusiasm of the centennial year will inure to the benefit of the Republican party, and not for the Democracy. Hence we see no reason why the country should be degraded into a mere scandal centre, disseminated by Congressional committees. It is enough that dirty little sheets like the New York Sun, and pretentious "independents" like the several purchasable Tribunes should monopolize this business. They are irresponsible, venal and vindictive. But Congress is a representative body, supposed to act with dignity, as the highest law making body of the nation. For it to turn into a dissemination of scandal, involves a depth of infamy and disgrace to which our nation never sank before. Hitherto, Congress has only investigated great public evils, of which formal complaint was made. Now, under Democratic lead, the House chases after the reputations of individuals, with no higher motive than to do them personal harm. This is low indeed.

STATE NEWS.

FARMERS peddling produce in Monongahela city are compelled to pay a license.

FIFTY converts were made during the religious revival in Strattanville, Clarion county.

THE coal trade is reviving in Sharpsville. Over fifteen hundred tons are daily shipped over the Sharpsville Railroad.

A MALIGNANT wretch has poisoned with paris green a number of the wells of Canton. Fortunately the presence of the poison in the water was detected in time to prevent serious consequences. A citizen committee of vigilantes are on the lookout for the poisoner.

THE Oil City Derrick denounces the recent statement of the products and capacity of the oil region, as published in the Titusville Courier, as a fraud and devotes several columns to pointing out its many glaring inaccuracies. The Derrick asserts that the review was published solely in the interest of Titusville speculators.

ON Wednesday great numbers of dead fish were noticed floating in the river at Hollidaysburg, from the largest suckers, catfish and eels, to thousands of minnows. The bursting out of the water in an unused coal mine on the mountain, the sulpher from which caused the destruction of the fish. The shores are lined with dead fish for many miles. Some of the black bass and salmon trout recently placed in the river have been destroyed.

A PHENOMENON is bothering the minds of the people in Madison township, living in the vicinity between New Athens and Rankin's mill. For two or three weeks past the water in a small branch of Catfish run, has been observed to boil up by gas at intervals. It has been growing stronger until this week a half mile or so of the stream was visibly affected by boiling gas, and on Friday last it was ignited at several points along the run. The gas flames rising above the waters presented a very novel sight.

Mrs. Secretary Traft's Popularity.

Mrs. Taft has assumed the duties of her new position as the wife of a Cabinet officer by being "at home" to visitors on Wednesday. A week ago she had her first reception assisted by the wife of Gen. Marcy. The Secretary of War and his wife were then at the Arlington, but this week they have removed to the Ebbitt House, and Mrs. Taft received in her parlor at that hotel yesterday. She is a lady of dignified but courteous and even genial manner. There is a warmth in the grasp of her hand as she cordially welcomes a visitor which the expression of genuine sincerity in her face would lead one to expect. She is tall and has sufficient embonpoint to become her height. Her clear, ruddy, brunette complexion, dark hair, and beaming dark eyes, at once impress strangers favorably, and her conversation and manner confirm the pleasant impressions. Those who know her well tell me she is very intellectual and thoroughly conversant with standard literature, and while she can not be called "literary" in the usual acceptation or the term, her tastes incline her to literary pursuits and the society of cultured men and women. She has never been, so residents of Cincinnati tell me, what would be styled a "society woman," but has preferred home life and engaging in works of charity to giving or attending entertainments. I should imagine Mrs. Taft to be a woman who would conscientiously discharge to the best of her ability the duties of any station in life in which she might find herself. Since her arrival in Washington she has not only "received" on Wednesday, as she knew a Secretary's wife was expected to, but she has made calls on the families of the Supreme Court judges—another obligation of the wife of a member of the Cabinet. She does not propose to keep house at present, though I understand every unrented house in Washington has been offered her, among the rest "Castle Stewart." Secretary and Mrs. Bristow entertained Secretary and Mrs. Taft and other guests at dinner a few days ago. A lady given to pithy remarks says, "Of all times this is the time when dinners and lunches should be given, because there is so much that is exciting to talk about."

Hints as to Beauty.

There is nothing more unfavorable to female beauty than late hours. Women who, either from necessity or choice, spend most of the day in bed, and the night at work or dissipation, have always a pale, faded complexion and dark rimmed wearied eyes. Too much sleep is almost as hurtful as too little, and is sure to give the person unwholesome fat. Diet, also, has a marked influence upon personal beauty. A gross and excessive indulgence in eating and drinking is fatal to the female charms, especially where there is great tendency to "making flesh." Regularity of time in the daily repast and good cooking are the best means of securing, not only good health, but good looks. The appetite should never be wasted during the intervales between meals on pastry, confectionery, or any other tickler of the appetite, which gratifies the taste, but not support the system. Exercise is, of course, essential to female beauty. It animates the whole physical life, quickens the circulation of the blood, heightens the color, develops the growth, and perfects the form of each limb and the entire body. It also gives beauty and grace to every movement.

Just the Way We Do It.

The Milwaukee Sentinel says we recall vaguely a custom said to prevail among a tribe of negroes in the interior of Africa. When the King dies the heir apparent is first seized by the people and clothed in the most wretched garments. Then he is seated upon the ground, and the people address him in the vilest language and treat him to a perfect shower of abusive terms. After this they attack him and drive him through the streets, pelting him with mud the while and lashing him vigorously with switches. At the close of this interesting performance he is washed, arrayed in the most gorgeous apparel, treated with the most lavish courtesy and respect, crowned with infinite ceremony and forever after implicitly obeyed. This tribe is so remote from civilization that only a few hardy explorer's have penetrated its territory. Hence these negroes must be acquitted of having deliberately organized a burlesque upon the American system of choosing a ruler; otherwise it would be difficult to resist the conviction that the practice had some such sinister purpose.

THE EXHIBITION AT NIGHT.

The Centennial Under the Sheen From the Chandeliers.

As has been announced the principal edifices on the Centennial Grounds will be closed at 6 o'clock in the evening, but thousands of promenaders who will have, in the course of two or three weeks' visiting, wearied at the displays of machinery, pictures, and curiosities from every clime, will throng to the Park in the cool dusk, and will patronize the concerts and the restaurants, and will stroll in the leafy avenues. It will be difficult to find in the whole country, in the months of June and July, any place of resort more absolutely lovely than this section of Fairmount Park will be when the Exhibition is at the height of its glory. In the various State buildings receptions, balls, and quiet parties will frequently be given; the foreign commissioners will hold levees in their handsome quarters, and elegant crowds will gather on the balconies of the "American Restaurant," which spreads its rambling halls over a large territory in a beautiful shaded nook. These balconies are vast, and will be a refuge to the weary during the heat of the days. There will be exhibitions of electric lights, which will illuminate the statues, the fountains, the stately dome of Memorian Hall, and the graceful arches of the mammoth Conservatory. Both within the exhibition enclosure, and just outside of it, there will be numerous excellent concerts. A huge theatre is in process of construction on the main avenue leading to the grounds. It is not too much to say that if attractions continue to multiply as they have lately multiplied, evening at the Centennial will be far more interesting to the masses than the day. A Prussian millitary band is promised, and what with Offenbach and the Germans, and Thomas, and some of the excellent orchestras from the neighboring cities, we shall have no lack of music. In the long summer afternoons excursions on the Schuylkill, on the romantic Wissahicon, and to Belmont Mansion can be organized whenever eyes and ears are weary of miles of pictures and statuary or of the thunderous refrain of acres of machinery in motion.

BLESSED RELIEF AT LAST.

A Chicago Humanitarian's Noble Employment.

A gentleman on Fifth avenue has opened what promises to be a successful and eminently beneficial institution in the form of a dog academy, where he teaches the noblest companion of man to detect book agents, lightning-rod architects, venders of patent stove-lifters, hulled corn, and the like, and indicate to them in an unmistakable manner that the people are not at home, and if they were wouldn't want anything because they had everything. Every day each of the caning scholars is soundly flogged three times by a man with a carpet-bag in his hand, so that there is inspired in his breast the most deadly hatred for men so equipped. Then a cigar-sign with a book or coromo under his arm is introduced into the room, and the dog is "sicked" upon it and is not fed until he has worried the seat of its trousers in a satisfactory manner. This method has proved eminently successful, as was demonstrated on Saturday in an exhibition given before several gentlemen connected with the press. A small bull terrier, weighing 19 pounds, with signs of the utmost fury, seized a wooden figure weighing 380 pounds by the slack of his trousers, and hauled it here and there over the floor, and shook it as if it was a rag, and a reporter, who unsuspectingly put his note-book under his arm and walked across the floor, was set upon by a small puppy but five months old, and so shamefully entreated where he sits down that he did not attempt to go home till it was dark, and then had to lean, in an apparently unconcerned manner, against the wall whenever he met any one.—Chicago Tribune.

Tennyson at Home.

Gen. Schenck was traveling with his party in the Isle of Wight. Their guide was extremely attentive, showing with true insular pride the mansions of various noblemen, with their splendid grounds, and dwelling with special emphasis upon the number of retainers kept by each. At last, coming upon a picturesque cottage, whose climbing vines and nicely kept lawn proclaimed the taste of its owners, the visitors inquired who it might be. "Only a very plain country gentleman, sir, as comes down 'ere now and then, an' lives very quiet; nobody you would know anything about, sir. I believe 'is name is Tennyson!" and the cicerone was hurrying on—

"Tennyson's cottage! O, stop! we must have a look!" chorused the lady travelers. The carriage was stopped, but the driver was utterly unable to comprehend the sudden interest.

"Mayhap you know him?" he said interrogatively, and his ignorance was so delicious that the ladies delighted themselves by drawing him out. They declared they had heard of Mr. Tennyson in distant America, and insisted that he, who lived so near, must know something about him. "He may be summat up in Lunnun, but down 'ere, sir, he makes no show at all, sir; he lives mostly alone." Then, as to stamp Mr. Tennyson's utter insignificance, he added: "He keeps only one man, and he sleeps out of the 'ouse." Such is fame!

FLOATING PARAGRAPHS.

—Bristow is said to be quite as inveterate a smoker as Grant.

—Bismarck's railroad scheme is receiving the support of the liberals, as shown by a recent caucus of that party held to consider the railroad bill. This proves that the party of action are desirous of supporting the man of action, a combination of forces which can accomplish great things. The centralization policy of the present ruler of Germany, Prince Bismarck, presents many phases, being conservative and revolutionary, aggressive and defensive at the same time, and will furnish the historian of the future with ample material whereon to moralize on the transitory nature of all things mundane.

—Hugh Miller's widow, recently dead, deserves, says an English paper, to be held in remembrance for her own as well as her husband's sake. There is no story of the kind more beautiful and impressive than that which tells of the courtship of the elegant, accomplished, high-spirited young lady with the slow, ponderous, and reticent stonemason of Cromarty. She belonged to the upper middle class of a small Scotch district, where social distinctions are very sharply marked, and she did what not one woman in a thousand in such a community could do when she discovered that under the homely garb of the working mason there was a gentleman of God's own making, whom she would be proud to have for her husband.

—Mrs. Charles Lowell has been appointed as State Commissioner of Charities in New York. She is the first woman who has ever received an appointment from the State of New York. There is no salary attached to the office, and the appointment is for seven years. Mrs. Lowell's long service in charitable works and the marked ability which she has displayed in their management are well known. She is the widow of the gallant Col. Charles R. Lowell, (nephew of the poet,) who was killed in the Shenandoah Valley, and sister of Col. R. G. Shaw, who fell at the head of his colored troops before Fort Wagner. As Miss Shaw she was an active member of the Sanitary Commission, and since the formation of the State Charities Aid Association she has identified herself with its interests, and she has spent most of her life in works of patriotism.

Isabel of Spain in Youth.

Isabel was so very pretty and attractive at that time that she could have had no need to go begging for wooers. She was plump to a point of voluptuousness, graceful in her movements, full of animation. Her dark eyes were very bright with intelligence, high spirit, and tender fire. Her black hair was abundant, her mouth sensuous, but well shaped and osculatorily seductive. She talked well, and her manners were engaging. Moreover, she had a degree of impudence, not to say audacity, which is captivating to men in any young and comely woman to whom they are not related by blood or marriage. No one who sees her now, or who had made her acquaintance after she was thirty, would believe the portraiture correct. The beauty of Isabel, like that of so many Spanish women, passed with her youth. A homelier, less reginal woman than she has been for the last ten years it would be hard to find.—Madrid Letter.

Tennyson's Tribulation.

Chicago Times: Tennyson has been ordered to write an ode to the Prince of Wales, and it is amusing to behold England's poet laureate walk fretfully up and down his garden and hear him mumbling, "The Prince of Wales,—favoring gales,—spreading sails,—tiger's tails,—the people yearn—his return,—our bosoms burn,—our love he'll earn,—we'll tyrants spurn,—jungels, bungles,—India—India—Ind—diadia" and then snap out: "O 'ang the hode."

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, May 4, 1876.

We have no changes of moment to record so far as our financial affairs are concerned. The condition of our bank remains as formerly, and business looks favorable and hopeful. We have, in the banks dividends, and those of the insurance companies, the indications of an unusually prosperous career during the past six months. Yet a portion of that time was not what is usually reckoned a prosperous season. We thus have the prospect that the immediate future will be prosperous with all our monetary institutions, if the business advance continues as it now promises to do. Discount rates remain unchanged.

The real estate market shows continued signs of life, and it begins to appear as if we might have some speculative activity in real estate. Houses that were unlet on the first of April are beginning to be taken up, and affairs generally, in the real estate circle, wear a better look.

NEW YORK, May 3, 1876.

Money closed easy at 3@4; prime mercantile paper 4½@6. The customs receipts were $247,000. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $654,000. The clearings were $20,000,000. Sterling 486@489½. The specie shipments to Europe to-day were $614,000—$60,000 gold coin and the remainder silver. Gold was dull at 112⅞@112¾. The carrying rates were 1 to 3. Governments were steady. Railroad bonds were quiet and firm. State securities were quiet. Stocks opened dull and irregular. There were many sales on sellers' option, especially in the case of Western Union and New York Central, the former at ½ per cent and the latter at 2@2¼ per cent. below the regular price. During the last hour the market was firm, with a recovery of ¼ to 1½ per cent., the latter New Jersey Central, which opened at 98, declined to 96, and closed at 97½. Delaware, Lackawanna & Western continued weak. Among other investment shares, New York Central was quite actively traded in. Brokers report sales for account of investors, who have held the stock for some time. These sales have been influenced by the recent report about the Commodore's health, various rumors about a railroad war, and the fluctuations in the stock the other day. In the late dealings there were continued sales of Michigan Central and Western Union, seller sixty, at a difference of about ½ per cent. The transactions aggregated 109,000 shares, of which 34,000 were Western Union, 9,000 St. Paul, 9,000 Erie, 40,000 Lake Shore, 3,000 New York Central, and 6,000 Michigan Central.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY May 3, 1876.

Trade in commercial circles is only fair, and the leading merchandise markets present nothing that is really new or important. We are pleased to perceive that some of our most conservative exchanges are hopeful of the future. The Boston Globe says: One of the most encouraging features, however, is that developed in the foreign trade. A decline in the leading kinds of produce has given an impulse to the export trade during the week, causing a slight improvement in grain freights, though the rates are uniformly too low for profit. The large gains made in the exportation of American manufactures, such as cotton goods, leather, agricultural machinery, etc. is marked. The exports from the chief seaports last month were more than $4,500,000 in excess of the aggregate for the same month last year. Of course the bulk of the exports consisted of agricultural produce, but manufacturers helped materially to swell the aggregate. Meanwhile the importations continue to decrease, and are now less in amount than the exports, from which our foreign indebtedness must be growing gradually smaller. This is doubtless a healthy feature of trade.

APPLES—The stock is being reduced, but the supply is still in excess of the demand, which is light, and prices are no better; sales at $2a3c for common to choice.

APPLE BUTTER—40a45c.

BUTTER—Sales of prime to choice dairy rolls at 25a28, and medium to good at 20a23c. Dealers are all anxious to keep their stock down as low as possible, from which it is evident they are looking for lower prices.

BEESWAX—In light supply and steady at 30c ₩ lb in lots, and 35c in a jobbing way.

BEANS—Continue to drag at $1,10 in lots, and $1,15 to 1,25 in a small way. The stock is ample to supply our market for the balance of the season.

CHEESE—Sales of prime new at 12a12½c; old Ohio at 13½a14c; do. New York, 14½a15c.

CRANBERRIES—In light supply, but there is not much inquiry, prices, however, are fully maintained; $15a16 ₩ bbl.

DRIED FRUIT—Is more inquired for, and the stocks are being rapidly reduced. We quote choice N. Y. State Apples at 10a10½c; prime, 9½a10; Peaches, 11½a12½c for prime halves. Blackberries, 12½c, Pitted Cherries, 25a28c. Raspberries, 30a31c.

EGGS—The market is well supplied and prices are easy, but without quotable change; 13a14c.

FLOUR—The market for good standard flours is firm, with a very fair demand. We quote: Spring wheat flours at $6,50a7; red winters, $6,50a7; choice ambers, $7,25a7,50; fancy white wheat and patent process, $8,75a9,50. Rye Flour, $4,75a5.

GROCERIES—Our grocery merchants continue to report business as being fairly active, some of them have been well supplied with orders for several weeks past, and it is probable trade will keep up well for some time to come. It is worthy of notice that retailers, both in the city and country, do not, as in former years, buy stock enough to last them from three to six months, but order from time to time as their necessities require.

The supply of good sound winter Wheat is light, and with a steady milling demand, prices are fully maintained; low grades or sprouty, of which there is considerable offering, is hard to dispose of at any price. We continue to quote good to prime Ohio and Indiana red at $1,35a1,38; do Michigan white, $1,43a1,45. The Oat market continues quiet and unchanged; Penna. and Ohio mixed, 39a41; do white, 42a43c. PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, May 3, 1876.

Following shows the aggregate receipts for the week, as well as those of the preceding week also:

ARRIVALS.

	This week.	Last week.
Cattle	326 cars	324 cars
Hogs	142 cars	38 cars
Sheep	73 cars	33 cars
Total	541 cars	495 cars

Briggs, Dock & Drum, Commission Merchants for the sale of live stock, at the East Liberty Stock Yards, report the market as follows:

CATTLE.

Of the 326 cars reported for the week ending at noon to-day, 250 cars were through and 76 cars local against 233 cars of the former and 91 cars of the latter, for the preceding week; sales, 976 head; preceding week, 1,065. As will be seen, the arrivals of through consignments were slightly in excess of those of the preceding week, while the receipts of yard cattle, were 15 cars less, and with a single exception, if we mistake not, the lightest of the season, and notwithstanding the attendance of buyers was only fair, sellers have succeeded in putting up prices from ⅛ to ¼ of a cent ₩ lb. While there is a stronger feeling in consequence of the very light supply, trade cannot be termed active by any means, and we need not expect any very decided improvement here until after there has been some life infused into the eastern markets. The run of through stock has been comparatively light for two weeks now in succession, and this has had as much if not more, to do with the improved feeling, than the limited supply on sale, as it always has a tendency to stimulate the demand here on eastern account. The most of the offerings this week have been of the common and medium grades; there was not a strictly prime drove of beeves on sale, hence we cannot give quotations for such, but it would require something extra to bring 6cts.

QUOTATIONS.

Cows, Bulls and Stags	3,25a4,25

No Stockers or Texans on sale.

SHEEP.

The arrivals, contrary to general expectation, were again light, and with an average demand and very limited supply, prices have been advanced fully 25c ₩ cwt, as compared with last week. The inquiry has been chiefly for the best grades, to go to New York, and it is thought at this writing, if supplies should come forward more freely during the next day or two, that current rates cannot be maintained. Probably not over one-seventh of the offerings this week were wooled, but the supply was fully up to the demand, as buyers very generally want clipped, and, everything else being equal, the latter sell more readily and at better prices relatively than the former. As we close our report, there are but very few of any kind remaining unsold, and the market may be reported firm at the following

HOGS

Since the date of our last report, prices have dropped almost daily from 5 to 15cts. ₩ cwt, and with increased receipts, unfavorable reports from Chicago and a continued light demand, we are inclined to the belief that the bottom has not yet been reached. Chicago dropped 20a25cts yesterday, under the influence of heavy receipts, and private dispatches report a still further declined at that point to-day, hence our market sympathizing, is very weak, and the indications at the present writing are favorable for a still further decline. There was only one lot of Philadelphia hogs sold to-day at $,10, and it is doubtful whether the same figure could have been realized afterwards.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, May 3, 1876.

The Crude market continues irregular; prices have been fluctuating from 3 to 5c ₩ bbl for some days past. United certificates to-day ranged from $1,82½ a1,87½, and immediate shipment was quoted at $2a2,05. As a number of our outside refiners have started up there will be an increased demand on Pittsburgh account. Refined continues weak and prices are barely maintained; Philadelphia delivery, 13½a13¾; on cars here, 10½a10¾.

The steamer James Jackson left Huntington on Tuesday evening, and will arrive here in time to start back with another cargo of 5,000 bbls, destined for Richmond, on Saturday.

The barrel market continues quiet but unchanged; countries, $1,15; city make, $1,20a1,25.

Chicago Lumber Market.

The cargo market was active and steady. About 44 cargoes were offered, and of this number fully 25 were sold and removed before night, the local yard-dealers being the principal buyers. The dealers entered the market early and took hold with avidity, and, altogether, the day's business was very satisfactory. There was no special change in prices. Piece stuff sold at $8 and common inch at $8,50a10 and fair do at $11a11.50. Several cargoes consisted of dry lumber, and will be noticed by referring to the sales below. Lath sold at $1,37½a1,50 and shingles at $2,35.

The yard trade continues slow, and prices rule easy in consequence of free arrival of green lumber.

Chicago Flour Market.

The Tribune of Monday says: Was very quiet and irregular. The local trade took hold sparingly but had to pay full former prices, the stocks being light—they have decreased 15,444 bbls during the last month. Shippers held off, and at the close market was nominally weak for shipping extras, in sympathy with wheat. The stock taking shows a total of 53 428 bbls in store here, against 46,882 bbls a month ago, and 31,515 bbls a year ago. These figures do not, however, give a correct idea of the flour on sale. They include flour already sold and held for shipment, and there is a standing allowance of 5,000 bbls made to cover little lots, which are apt to be smaller than usual when the current supply is light, as recently. Sales were reported of 390 bbls winters at $5,40a6,50; and 400 bbls spring extras at $4,50a5. Total, 790 bbls. The market closed steady at the following range of prices: Choice winter extras, $7,30a7,80; common to good do, $5,80a7,10; shipping extras, $4.30a4,80; good do, $4,85a5,10; choice do, $5,10a5,60; patents do, $6a9; Minnesota, $5a6,60; spring superfines, $3a3,75.

Cincinnati Horse Market.

The number of sales decrease as the season advances, but the demand remains good. In the Fifth street auctions, last week, the sales footed up 550 head, of which were the following shipments: 1 car to Buffalo, at $120a150 ₩ head; 1 car to West Virginia, at $65a100; 1 car trotters to Philadelphia, at $150a225; 1 car to Boston, at $125a300; 1 car to Philadelphia, at $9 a110. Three hundred street car Horses, ranging in price from $80 to $115, are wanted for the Philadelphia market.—Commercial.

JOHN KARRENAGLE, Sergeant, Signal Service, U. S. A.

THE stage of water last evening was 7 feet 6 inches and falling. Weather clear and pleasant; business at the landing has been unusually dull all week, possibly a scarcity of tonnage has had something to do with it.

NICK WITTEN and James Rowley are the Emma Graham's pilots.

THE Grand Tower, made the run from Helena to Memphis in 6 hours and 36 minutes.

THE new St. James was launched at Madison on Monday. She is a large side wheeler.

COM. KOUNTZ is back from St. Louis, and Capt. R. C. Gray left for that point yesterday.

THE John Gilmore arrived at St. Louis on Monday from La-alle, with 1,800 tons of ice.

TWO new model barges for the Diamond Jo Line were launched from Mack's yard on Saturday.

THE disabled steamer Hornet, arrived on Tuesday night; she will at once be placed in condition for business.

JACK C. ROWLAND and Wm. Gosney, are piloting the Turner from Cincinnati. She is due here to-morrow.

CAPT. TOM LEATHERS makes an excursion trip with the Natchez from New Orleans to the jetties next Friday.

A PART of the Robt. Mitchell's freight for Cincinnati consisted of 350 live alligators, from 8 inches to 14 feet long.

THE Hope has been fully repaired, and will depart for Parkersburg this morning with three flats of coal and several empty barges.

THE Coal Valley arrived at Cincinnati on Tuesday, and the Lioness, Geo. Lysle and Enterprise, left there the same day for this port.

MISS MOLLIE MCCLOY, a daughter of Capt. J. McCloy, of St. Louis, took the veil in Louisville, at the Mount Maria Convent a few weeks since.

ONE item of the Grand Republic's cargo from New Orleans to St. Louis is 1,000 hhds sugar. She was visited by over 10,000 people while at New Orleans.

THE fine side-wheeler, H. S. Turner, Capt. Hart, is due from Cincinnati to-night, and as will be seen by card, is announced to depart for St. Louis on Saturday.

THE following steamers comprise the daily line of St. Louis and St. Paul packets: Minneapolis, Red Wing, Belle LaCrosse, Minnesota, Dubuque, Lake Superior and Northwestern.

CAPT. GEO. W. NEARE says all steamers and barges are in the new pool at St. Louis, and working harmoniously. It is a pity the same system can not be successfuly inaugurated here.

FIVE dollars and fifty cents is the rate on tobacco from Nashville to New Orleans. There are three routes, viz: the railroad, Nashville and Chattanooga, Louisville and Nashville, and the river.

MR. JOHN THORNBURG, who is clerk pro tem of the Emma Graham, was clerk of the Fleetwood and other steamers in the Cincinnati and Big Sandy trade for several years. This was the first time he has been in Pittsburgh for ten years.

THE Emma Graham, from Cincinnati, and Mallie Ragon, from Wheeling, arrived and departed. The tow boats Joseph A. Stone and Coal City arrived, with tows of empty barges, and departed with full ones. The Ironsides, with a big trip, departed for St. Louis.

THE Marine Ways at Mound City, Ill., are advertised at public sale on Friday, May 12. It is probable the heaviest creditors, of which Capt. W. L. Hambleton is chief, will buy the property in, and that the Ways will continue under the same management as now.

CAPT. JNO. MCCLURE, of Wheeling, was in the city yesterday. He is building a new side-wheeler, to ply as a regular packet between Martin's Ferry and Bellaire. She is to be 120 feet in length, 22 feet beam, with cylinders 10 inches in diameter. The hull is being constructed at Freedom.

CAPT. JNO. THORNBURG will probably give out the contract for his new boat during the present week. The boat will either be built at James Mack's shipyard, Cincinnati or at Knox & Sons', Harmar, Ohio. The new boat will be 150 feet long, and 30 feet beam, and is to have the Clara Scott's machinery.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ PROFESSIONAL NOTICE.
Drs. Jordan and Davieson
Principals of the Institution of Anatomy, 807 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Lecturers on Anatomy, Physiology and Science, inform their friends and patients that they have again opened a branch office for the practice of their profession at No. 2 EIGHTH STREET, PITTSBURGH, PA., where one of the firm may be confidentially consulted, more especially in all those cases of diseases and debility, for the treatment of which they are so justly celebrated. It is too well known that hundreds, nay thousands suffer from the effects of early indiscretion and seek in vain for relief, for none but the educated physician who has made these subjects a specialty is likely to succeed in restoring the patient to health and strength. To all such Drs. Jordan and Davieson offer certain and speedy relief, and undertake no cases but those in which they are able to guarantee a safe, certain and permanent cure. Their important Medical Work may be had from their office, No. 2 Eighth street, on receipt of 25 cents, and also as usual from their head establishment, 1625 Filbert street, Philadelphia. Hours of consultation from 10 A. M. to 2 P. M., and from 5 P. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays from 10 A. M. to 2 P. M. Every case is strictly confidential. d&s

☞ KEYSTONE DISPENSARY,
No. 302 Penn street, Pittsburgh, Pa., a special institution, having a Union-wide reputation for the reliable and successful treatment of Private and Urinary diseases, Spermatorrhoea, Seminal Weakness, Impotence, etc. Everybody should read TRUE MARRIAGE GUIDE, 144 pages; illustrated; cloth and gilt binding; about wonders of reproductive system, marriage, proper age and condition, marriage impediments, causes and consequences. Price 50 cents. Address as above, or call DR. WHITTIER. d&s

☞ PRIVATE DISEASES.—OFFICE 194 PENN STREET, next door to the St. Clair Hotel. For the cure of all diseases of a private nature in from two to four days, by an entirely new and safe treatment. Also, seminal weakness, impotency and all other diseases of the genital organs, and their prevention. A cure warranted or money refunded. THE NATION TRUST COMPANY.

The Compromise With the City Proposed by the Stockholders—A Proposition Which Deserves a Careful Consideration.

We publish below the full text of the compromise, which is proposed by the stockholders of the Nation Trust Company, to settle at once their indebtedness to the city. The proposition very clearly sets forth the terms by which the stockholders hope to square the claims against them immediately, and put the cash into the City Treasury. The gist of the whole matter is an offer of forty per cent. cash, in place of allowing the claim to run along through several years, with the chances against the city ever recovering the full amount, owing to the depreciation which would be brought about by any foreclosure and forced sale of the property now held as security. This is substantially the case as presented by the stockholders, and they ask the city to consider whether it is not better to take a specified sum in cash now than run a great risk of losing more in the future.

The proposition may not be at first sight a very acceptable one to the city, but under the circumstances, we think it demands careful consideration on the part of Councils. We have no hesitancy in saying that forty per cent. is too low a compromise; but at the same time believe that if the figures were put up higher, an immediate settlement would be to the interest of the city. If, for instance, the city could sell out its claim of $415,000 and thus secure sufficient funds to complete the water works, there can be no question but that it would be to the city's interest to stand the shave and get the cash, rather than issue any more bonds to do the work. The shave of say $115,000 which would thus be involved might seem heavy, but the question to be looked at is, would not the advantages of a completion of the water works, without getting any further into debt overbalance the pecuniary loss by such a compromise. The matter comes in this shape before Councils, and it is for them to consider it with the same judgment and deliberation they would give it if it were the settlement of a debt in their private business. In such a settlement the question would be, not how much is the debt, but what is the greatest amount which can be realized from it at once. It is for Councils to say whether in view of all the facts, it is better to force a sale, under foreclosure, or to endeavor to agree upon a compromise which will put the cash into the City Treasury at once, and thus make an end of the whole business.

Bah

The following is the stockholders proposal:

To the Select and Common Councils of the City of Pittsburgh:

On behalf of the contributing stockholders of the Nation Trust Company, we respectfully ask from your honorable bodies the option of purchase of the claims of the City against the Nation Trust Company within —— days, at the rate of forty per cent. of their face in cash.

The object of the option is to give opportunity to raise the money, and secure the purchase of the remaining claims; and our proposition is first made to your honorable bodies, because the claim of the city is the largest, the entire indebtedness being divided as follows:

Claim of City of Pittsburgh.......$415,000
" County of Allegheny..... 139,044
" Individual Creditors..... 454,846

As by the terms of the composition, the principal of the entire debt is payable in one, two, three and four years without interest, the present cash value of the claim is much below its par value, and therefore this offer should not be regarded by way of comparison with the par of the debt.

It was confidently expected when the composition was entered into a large proportion of the stockholders would bear their just share of the burden; in this there was great disappointment, although the most earnest efforts, consuming nine months of the first year of the extension, were made to secure that result. It has so happened that about twenty-eight or thirty stockholders out of one hundred and forty, are bound for the whole debt, and of the smaller number, four have about three-fifths of the entire burden.

Although the properties are intrinsically worth more than the whole debt for which they are held as securities, yet these four gentlemen and other contributors, find themselves unable by the pressure of the times to meet the June payment, which amounts to $250,000, either by mortgages or by sales of property. It therefore becomes our duty, at the earliest moment to advise you of this grave state of affairs, and to suggest to you how far our constituents are able to assist you and the other creditors in the premises.

The Veech mortgages and the Negley mortgages are held in the names of the respective trustees for all of the creditors, and not for any separately; they all mature at the same time, and the trustees are bound by the terms of them, to sell at public out-cry all of the properties on the happening of defaults. The properties included in the Veech mortgages are liable to be sold at ten days' default in any payment. The Negley mortgages are liable to be foreclosed on thirty days' default in any payment. Were it possible for the city to sever its interests, and sell its share of the mortgages, it is believed that owing to the experience derived from Sheriff's and other public sales of the last few months, capitalists would, after deducting a heavy bonus demand a margin between the purchase money and the value, equal to the difference between our present offer and the par of the debt. In other words not more than forty per cent. could be borrowed on them. As they cannot be so negotiated, the same experience justifies the assertion, that the foreclosure of the mortgages and public sale of the properties by the trustees, would result in a dreadful sacrifice in values, so that it is doubtful whether the net results of such sales would meet the payment due in June. In that event all the securities will have been exhausted and the remainder of the debt will be worthless.

The sale by the Trustees of so large an amount of property will be a great public misfortune. It will, of course, rule down the values of real estate in the city, and in consequence its borrowing capacity. Capitalists will exact larger margins between the loans and the estimated value, in advancing money on real estate.

If, therefore, less money will be realized to the creditors, by any other course open to them, as we respectfully submit is the case; then we have reason to believe that your honorable bodies will accept our proposition; and if so accepted, it is very important that it should be at an early date, to enable us to consult other creditors; of course, if the reverse should appear to be the case we cannot complain of your action.

It is expected by the contributing stockholders that they can provide for the 40 per cent. payment under this proposition by negotiating loans for that amount on their real estate. To do this will require all the time asked for.

It is not our object to appeal to your sympathies, in behalf of our clients, although such an appeal would not be misplaced. We desire to assist the creditors to realize as much of their claims as is reasonably practicable, and present the proposition to be decided upon its pecuniary merits simply.

The prevalent notion, that there is an inconsistency between our present proposition and the composition already agreed upon, is based on a misconception. We do not depreciate the value of the securities now in the hands of the Trustees. They were fairly shown to the committee to have been worth their face. But the exigency arises from the inability of the debtors to raise money from their outside resources with which to pay the installment becoming due next month. Nor can the debtors, it is evident, procure loans on the premises already mortgaged. But if the creditors accede to the present offer, the properties so mortgaged being released, or an agreement to release being made, can be used as means to assist in raising the necessary cash.

Many of our creditors and some of the stockholders have been desirous of contending that the city is not entitled to participate in the proceeds of these securities; that the city claim originating, as it did, in rascality and connivance between persons falsely pretending to represent the city and the Nation Trust Company, does not constitute a debt enforceable at law. But the parties who thus far, since its failure, have controlled the affairs of the Trust Company, and who have put up their private means to secure the creditors, deprecate litigation, and hope with the assistance and good will of the city authorities, to effect a speedy settlement of the entire claims, to the satisfaction of all concerned.

With great respect,
GEO SHIRAS, JR.,
S. SCHOYER, JR.

Court Brevities.

THE Moore-Post libel suit, which was to have been retried at the present term of Court, has been postponed until the September term, owing to the illness of Mr. Gibson, the original counsel for the defense.

IT is not likely that the Clark-McCully bond of friendship case will be re-argued before the October term of the Supreme Court, which will be held in this city. The illness of Justice Williams since last January is the cause of the delay.

IN the Common Pleas Court No. 1 yesterday, John Dresel and wife commenced suit against Antoine Minum to recover damages for injuries alleged to have been inflicted upon Mrs. Dresel by defendant, it being claimed that he knocked her down and kicked her while she was sick.

A BILL in equity was filed in the Common Pleas Court No. 1 yesterday, by John Barton, Esq., attorney for Thomas Muse, in which John Duncan, Henry Duncan, Elizabeth Duncan, Robert Cornell and Andrew Werling are defendants. The complainant and respondents in 1863 went into partnership and built the steam tug Leopard. The partnership was dissolved in March, 1872. From 1863 to 1872 the complainant acted as Captain and part of the time as pilot, and he claims that for the latter service he was never paid. He asks that an account be taken and the respondents be obliged to settle with him.

THE United States Grand Jury found the following true bills yesterday: United States vs. J. S. West, dealing in leaf tobacco without payment of taxes; Peter Brown, evading the payment of tax as a liquor dealer and as a tobacco manufacturer; Charles Haid, failure to cancel stamps on beer kegs; Gustave Klemmert, selling beer from an unstamped package; William Topper and O. P. Sackett, (second count in indictment,) breaking into a postoffice and attempting to do so; Christian Wahl, selling beer from an unstamped package; Joseph Stehle, same; John Coates and Samuel B. McGowan, forcibly attempting to break into a postoffice, and forcibly breaking into the same.

A communication was received from the City Engineer in relation to the petition of Robert Ellis, who asks to be indemnified for $158, which, under a contract for grading and paving Forty-second street, he paid to a sub-contractor over and above the amount paid to him by the city. The communication affirmed the facts to be as stated in the petition of Mr. Ellis, and the Committee recommended a resolution to Councils ordering the payment to Mr. Ellis of $158, the amount which he was compelled to pay the sub-contractor. The work for which this claim was made was exclusive of the work provided for in the original proposals.

An ordinance regulating the construction of sewer connections, was referred to the Sub-Committee on Sewers.

The sub-committee on drainage of the South Side, between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets, reported that they had ordered the Street Committee of the Fifth District to move the box to the gutter line of Twenty-fifth street. This action was confirmed by the committee.

A resolution instructing the Committee on Streets to advertise for proposals for painting street signs, was indefinitely postponed, as a contract for this work was already in existence.

A resolution directing the Street Committee to ascertain to whom the street leading from the Sharpsburg bridge to Butler street belongs, and asking that an arrangement be made to have the street put in good order and properly lighted, was received and filed.

An appeal of E. H. & L. A. Freund from the report of the viewers damages on the grading of Forbes street. was reported back to Councils negatively.

Proposals for furnishing sewer castings at 2¼ cts. per pound were received from Fisher, Thomas & Co, and at the same rate from A. Hartupee. WELLINGTON, Lorain Co., O.,
August 24, 1874.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR—Your medicines, Golden Medical Discovery, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, have proved of the greatest service to me. Six months ago no one thought that I could possibly live long. I had a complication of diseases,—scrofula, manifesting itself in eruptions and great blotches on my head that made such sores that I could not have my hair combed without causing me much suffering; also causing swollen glands, tonsils enlarged, enlarged or "thick neck," and large and numerous boils. I also suffered from a terrible Chronic Catarrh, and in fact I was diseased that life was a burden to me. I had tried many doctors with no benefit. I finally procured one-half dozen bottles of your Golden Medical Discovery and one dozen Sage's catarrh Remedy and commenced their use. At first I was badly discouraged, but after taking four bottles of the Discovery I began to improve, and when I had taken the remaining I was well. In addition to the use of Discovery I applied a solution of Iodine to the Goitre or thick neck, as you advise in pamphet wrapper and it entirely disappeared. Your discovery is certainly the most wonderful blood medicine ever invented. I thank God and you from the depths of my heart, for the great good it has done me.

Very gratefully,
MRS. L. C. CHAFFEE.

Most medicines which are advertised as blood purifiers and liver medicines contain either mercury, in some form or potassium and iodine variously combined. All of these agents have strong tendency to break down the blood corpuscles, and debillitate and otherwise permanently injure the human system, and should therefore be discarded. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, on the other hand, being composed of the fluid extracts of native plants, barks and roots, will in no case produce injury, its effects being strengthening and curative only. Sarsaparilla, which used to enjoy quite a reputation as a blood purifier, is a remedy of thirty years ago, and may well give place as it is doing, to the most positive and valuable vegetable alteratives which later medical investigation and discovery has brought to light. In Scrofula or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammation, Mercurial affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin and Sore Eyes as in all other blood diseases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has shown its great remedial powers cuirng the most obstinate and intractable cases. Sold by all dealers in medicnes.

A FIERCE ENCOUNTER.

Desperate Pistol Fight at Uniontown on Tuesday Evening—An Old Man Shot by Bullies, and His Son Wounded Three Times—A Woman at the Bottom of It—Escape of the Desperadoes.

At Uniontown on Tuesday evening a shooting affray occurred that may end fatally to James Nycum, a young man who resides at that place. There were three other parties to the affray, viz, Nycum's father, and Isaac and James Hutchinson. It originated about a woman—Mrs. Temperance Loughman, nee Miss Temperance Marcy. Jacob Loughman, husband of the woman, is a gentleman of good reputation, but his wife, like the wives of certain other men in that town, fell into the adulterous hands of some of the roues who abound and seem to thrive in that locality and was ruined. Mrs. Loughman is a young woman yet, and in the days of her girlhood was very pretty. She was small, neat and petite of figure, the possessor of a bright face, and had a piquant, jaunty air which, while attractive, seemed to possess the faculty of telling one that she was well aware of the quality of her own personal charms. A few weeks ago Jim Nycum happened to discover Ike Hutchinson, as he is familiarly known there, in the rear of Loughman's dwelling. Isaac had Mrs. Loughman encircled in his arms, and was enjoying the felicity of pressing her to his bosom with all the ardor that particularly marks the period of early youth, and young, fresh blood, when the course of his bliss was interrupted by the appearance upon the scene of the long, lank and ungainly form of Nycum. Upon the face of the latter was a sardonic grin that better evidenced his satisfaction at the discovery than he could have expressed in words. Hutchinson wasn't pleased at the intrusion upon his privacy and imitating the example of "Bill" Nye, he went viciously for the heathen who could be so unchristian as to mar the comfort of such an interview as was then progressing. The fight didn't last long. When Hutchinson came out of it he looked as though he had squared off with a Buckeye mower and reaper. It was the worst whipping he ever got, and was administered with all the ornamental and fresco work of which Nycum was capable. That inglorious defeat rankled and festered in Hutchinson's mind until Tuesday evening, when he sought to gain revenge. About seven o'clock Nycum was passing his father's blacksmith shop when Isaac and James Hutchinson assaulted him with stones. One of the boulders broke his leg and he fell to the earth. His father, an old gentleman, of the truest grit, and to whom fear is something unknown, then joined him and a general fight followed. Ike. Hutchinson drew a revolver and fired several shots, one of which struck the elder Nycum in the right shoulder. Jim. Nycum was very badly wounded in two places. One of the balls lodged in his thigh and the other passed through the back part of his head. After he had fallen to the ground and was unable to rise again he rolled over, drew his revolver and fired at Hutchinson, but unfortunately failed to hit him. The latter promptly returned the salute but this time without effect. The firing attracted a crowd which induced the Hutchinsons to leave, probably from fear that their shooting of a gray haired old man would have an effect that might prove unfavorable to their personal safety. James Hutchinson started off in the direction of his home, and Ike went to Beall's stable to get his horse. He was followed by officer Alex. Chisholm, who was about to arrest him when he again drew his weapon and threated to shoot the policeman dead if he touched him. Quite contrary to his usual custom, officer Chisholm permitted the desperado to depart. He went some distance, and was seen leaning against a fence as though suffering from sickness. It was thought possible that he might have been hit by one of the missiles that were so plentiful during the affray. Both men succeeded in making their escape, however. The country side was well scoured on Tuesday night by two Deputy Sheriffs and a posse of men, but their vigilance brought no gratifying results. The wounded Nycums were taken home, where their hurts were dressed by Drs. J. B. Ewing and F. C. Robinson. James Nycum is considered in a precarious condition. The brace of Hutchinson's concerned in this fight are hard cases. Ike is a large, burly man, and while not held a desperado in the strict meaning of the word he is generally looked upon up there as one of the kind, who end by becoming such. The difference between him and a desperado is very slight. He was a constable in Uniontown for several years and at one time filled the position of High Constable. He is a reckless fellow and not afraid of anybody. During the administration of Mayor Blackmore he was an applicant for a position upon the detective force of this city. James Hutchinson is just such another character as Ike, with the difference that he does not possess a moiety of the brute courage which the latter has. One night, several years ago, during a midnight brawl in the streets of Uniontown, and the Hutchinsons have created more of these brawls than any other one family in Fayette county, he stabbed John Bunting in the abdomen. That's the kind of a man he is. Yesterday Chief of Police Hartsell received a telegram from W. H. Nycum, brother and son of the injured parties, giving a description of the Hutchinsons and requesting their arrest in case they come to this city. The dispatch also stated that an information for felonious shooting had been made against them in Uniontown, and concluded by naming a certain locality in Pittsburgh where they might be apprehended. Ike Hutchinson is too shrewd and too well versed himself in the pursuit of criminals to come to this city for freedom from arrest. The Nycums compose a very respectable family. Jim is peaceable enough and easy to get along with except when intoxicated. Then he is considerable of a rough, quarrelsome and troublesome. When sober he is as good-natured as anybody, but he belongs to one of the pluckiest families in existence, a chief characteristic of which is the quickness and effectiveness with which they resent an insult.

The Fiery Furnace.

Not the seven-fold heated fiery furnace of olden time, but one especially adapted to heating purposes of modern convenience and having a maximum capacity in this respect, with a minimum amount of fuel, is the one manufactured by Messrs. Graff, Hugus & Co., of 206 and 208 Liberty street, and to which they have added so many and such valuable improvements that the same may fairly be considered the ne plus ultra heat-producing apparatus of this or any other age. In the heating of school houses, churches, and all public and private buildings where the greatest possible power, with the least expenditure of fuel, is required, this furnace will fully answer every expectation. They are also manufacturers of the Agitating Grate, of the Larkin's patent, which has gained such a reputation for power, simplicity, efficiency, economy and cleanliness, that it bids fair to supercede all others now in use. Another of their specialties is the improved double-oven Boston Cooking Range, acknowledged to be a superior, convenient and economical range, to which may be added their extensive and varied assortment of parlor and cook stoves, with whatever else pertains to their line of trade, in excellence and durability at the lowest prices.

MUNICIPAL ROADS.

The Grading of Homewood Avenue—Squabbling Over Stone on Rural Avenues—After the Connellsville Railroad.

The Road Committee met yesterday afternoon in the Common Council chamber, Mr. C. P. Duff in the chair. Controller Snodgrass appeared before the committee and said that he would not feel justified in issuing warrants to parties who might be awarded contracts for placing broken stone on rural avenues, for the reason that when the Finance Committee made its appropriations for this year it contemplated no expenditures for the macadamizing of roads, and in addition to that he did not consider such improvements legal, in which opinion he had the endorsement of the City Attorney, who had officially notified him that payment for such work would be illegal.

The following district pay rolls were approved:

First district..................	$ 640 77
Second "	556 67
Third "	1,075 03
Total..................	$2,272 47

Bids for the contract for doing 8,341 cubic yards of grading on Homewood avenue, from Penn to Frankstown avenues, were opened as follows: Patrick Fay, 22¾ cents per yard; Patrick Bradley, 21 cents; Robert Ellis, 29 cents; W. W. Young, 34 cents; S. F. Howard, 24 cents; Wm. Flinn, 31 cents; P. Moran, 29 cents; J. J. Booth, 29 cents. The bids also included the construction of a stone culvert eighty-two feet long. The contract amounts to $1,751.61. On motion of Mr. Aull the bids were referred to a sub-committee consisting of Messrs. Aull, McClaren and Ferson, to confer with the property holders interested in regard to awarding the contract and report back to the committee.

The following resolutions offered by Mr. Evans were adopted:

Resolved, That the City Attorney be requested to furnish a written opinion to this committee as to who is responsible for the ungraded portion of Hazlewood avenue, and who can be compelled to grade that portion of said avenue.

Resolved, That the City Engineer be notified to locate the line of Second avenue, from Glenwood crossing to the City Farm, and to place pins in so that it can be seen where the Connellsville Railroad infringes on said road.

The committee next went into consideration of the bids for placing stone on East End and Park avenues, and Mr. Aull moved, in view of the opinion of the City Solicitor and the position of Controller Snodgrass, that the bids be returned to the bidders unopened. Mr. McClaren held that the only benefit the Twenty-second and Twenty-third wards get from the city is a little broken stone on their unimproved thoroughfares; they derive no advantage in the way of water, gas or police, and now it is proposed to deprive them of the priceless boon of the moiety of stone heretofore granted them. After further discussion Mr. Aull's motion was lost. Mr. Evans then moved that the Controller be requested to furnish in writing his reasons and evidence for declining to issue warrants for such broken stone. Carried. A motion to open the bids was lost, and then the matter ended.

A resolution offered by Mr. Evans, requesting the City Attorney to report to this committee the contract between the Second Avenue Commissioners and the Connellsville Railroad, wherein the latter agrees to erect certain retaining walls within a limited time, and if they have failed in their duty to report a plan to compel them to fulfill it, was adopted.

The following ordinances &c. were affirmatively ordered to Councils: For a sewer on Soho run, from Forbes street to Fifth avenue; for the opening of Osage lane, from Penn avenue to the property of Stacy Lloyd's heirs. A resolution for placing castings on Miltenberger and Gist streets, at their intersection with Forbes street, was recommended to Councils for adoption providing the castings are on hand.

A resolution by Mr. Evans instructing the City Engineer to direct the contractor on Sylvan avenue to cease work from Hazelwood avenue to a point two thousand feet west until the question of grade is settled was adopted.
